Big Snow in Wyoming

Laramie, Wyo., May 10.—For twenty-four days a snowstorm has raged in the southern Wyoming mountains and snow is seven feet deep on a level. Since April 15 the sun has not shone and the storm has not ceased a moment. The temperature has been between zero and ten degrees below for that time. It is the most remarkable storm ever visiting the Wyoming mountains.

QUESTION NO. 10.

Min. Grove M.

May 18, 1907.

Editor WORLD'S CRESSET

Will you answer the following questions, through your paper?

1. Is the soul immortal?
2. Is there any consciousness after death?
3. Do the righteous or the wicked enter into their reward or punishment immediately after death?
4. Is man kind now on trial for everlasting life or immortality?
5. Is there any difference between everlasting life and immortality?

As you claim to be a Bible Student I believe you should be able to answer these questions, which have been very perplexing to me.

Yours truly F. G. Rust.

—Will answer one at a time until all are answered.

PATENTS

PROCESSES AND DEVICES. For the purpose of securing a patent for an invention, the inventor must first reduce his invention to a tangible form. This is done by drawing or painting a picture of the invention, or by making a model of it. The drawing or painting must be made in such a way as to show the invention in its simplest and most practical form. The model must be made in such a way as to show the invention in its simplest and most practical form.

BOLDERS THAT IS TO BE REMOVED.

And only by the gospel hammer, can it be done. There is a clearing on hands, and the de-bress can only be done by the gospel Pick and Shovel—The first bolder to be removed is, self-esteem or exaltation to be removed by humbling ourselves under the Mighty Hand of God and He will exalt us—The next is the lust of the flesh—Crucified by bringing our bodies a living sacrifice holy exceptable unto God which is our reasonable service.

Let self-righteousness, and a form of godliness, be dug up by the roots and shoveled into oblivion—by having on the breast-plate of righteousness having the loins gird about with truth, and our feet shod with the preparation of the gospel of peace. And above all take the shield of faith. So as to be able to quench all the fiery darts of the wicked one.—All this can only be done by a determined hand and a willing mind. For an example we had the privilege of learning that in the Galtee Hills of Ireland that men who were driven to it by land lords entered upon a task of taking a spot of ground with only a thin layer of sandy turf covering the lime stone bolders. And for 20 long years labored hard to move the bolders in order that they may clear up a farm for lords of England, and not for themselves.

But thank God, if the Reader of the CRESSET, will only heed our advice in our little subject they will be working for a Lord of lords, and a King of kings that will not only give them a home here with all bolders removed. But a home Eternally in the Heavens.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From our Regular Correspondent.

Another visitor who is the recipient of the most distinguished attentions is the Duke degli Abruzzi of Italy who is not only an honored guest on account of his close relationship to the King of Italy but also because of his renown as an explorer. He is a guest at the Italian Embassy but he has also been entertained at the White House and had several receptions and ball given in his honor. The Duke is Commander of the Italian fleet at Jamestown and his visit to Washington follows that to the Exposition. He is accompanied by his suite and he will make a tour of the principal Eastern cities before returning to Italy.

A more striking contrast than that between the little Japanese officer and his royal highness, the Duke, would be hard to imagine but in their frequent meeting at fashionable entertainments they seem to have developed a mutual admiration and to have become good friends. Tonight they will meet at the White House where the President and Mrs. Roosevelt will present them to a number of notables not often to be gathered together here at this season.

The Dead Honored.

We clip the following from the Springfield Republican.

Dr. J. L. Powell, for more than thirty years a prominent and popular physician at Summerville, died last Friday and was buried with Masonic honors, Sunday. He was taken sick while returning home on the Eminence road from a professional visit and died shortly after arriving at Summerville, supposing to be heart failure. Dr. Powell was a well known citizen, who stood high in the esteem of the community.—Houston Herald.

WE ADD THE FOLLOWING.

Dr. Powell is gone to rest,
A noble man he was.
In what he did he done his best
It's more than many does.
He'll be missed by those he left behind
His noble family true
He'll never be taken from their mind
While their journey in life pursue.

We regret to re-chronical the death of such an esteemed friend as Dr. Powell was to the Colony people: while the Colony lived near Summerville, he was their family physician. His skill as a physician could not be surpassed in our estimation. In order to let the readers understand why we pay this honor to the departed, we shall give them a circumstance that will enable them to see the reason. During our stay near Summerville we had the privilege of holding meeting in the Masonic hall in Summerville. Dr. Powell was one of the faithful tenders. With many other Masons and Oddfellows was one James McKinney now of Wyoming. At the close of one of those meetings there was a minister belonging to a denomination said we were not preaching the truth: It was said in the presence of Dr. Powell and James McKinney, both of these men said we will risk what we have, that Mr. Garrett is able to prove his points, and that they are truth, and when it had been so arranged for us and the minister to meet, these two men came eight miles to let us know, but the minister backed down.

This will show our esteem for such men who has in time of need stood by us—men who has an unblemished character like Dr. Powell, James McKinney, C. L. White, Aron Johnson, and Jesse Fogerson, men who cannot be surpassed in citizenship, and in Masonry second best to none who can doubt such men's ability, in judgement, in regard to a man's moral life.
